Nestled inside the northwest corner of Houston, Cypress — affectionately known as Cy-Fair to locals — has seen a population increase of more than 50% since 2000. This haven joins the Cypress and Fairbanks neighborhoods and sits nearly 20 miles from downtown Houston.

Because of the joining of the two Harris County neighborhoods, Cypress, Fairbanks and nearby Jersey Village encompass nearly 186 square miles of entertainment, shopping, and history.

Visitors can enjoy a day at Sam Houston Race Park, where thoroughbred and quarter horses races highlight regular events, though the food truck rally and Camel & Ostrich Races have become fan favorites.

Lone Star College has made a home in Cy-Fair, adding to the community the Lone Star Library and the Center for the Arts.

Locals and visitors alike can enjoy shopping at the Houston Premium Outlets as well as several other local and boutique malls. Diners can enjoy food of all kinds, including the Food Network's Comfort Food Tour Rosehill Beer Garden to sample the four-meat, Morning After Burger.

Though part of Houston, Cypress boasts its own chamber of commerce with more than 700 community members. It hosts annual events and works to strengthen partnerships in and around the community.

Meanwhile, Houston utilizes the benefits of several chambers of commerce, including the Greater Houston Partnership, which is the largest in the community. Businesses are also supported by the Houston Northwest Chamber of Commerce, Greater Houston Black Chamber, Houston West Chamber of Commerce, Houston Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, and the Greater Houston LGBT Chamber of Commerce.
