Known as the “Bright Star of Central Texas,” Harker Heights represents a vibrant and growing hub located in Bell County. It is part of the Killeen-Temple-Fort Hood Metropolitan area. Harker Heights is a relatively young city that was established in 1960. However, thanks to its central location, it has quickly developed into a thriving community.

Most notably, Harker Heights is positioned near Fort Cavazos (formerly Fort Hood), one of the largest military installations in the world.

The bustling city is known for its commitment to quality of life for its residents, offering a variety of parks, recreational facilities, and community events that cater to families and individuals of all ages. Carl Levin Park, one of the city’s main rec hubs, features picnic areas, a walking trail, a pond, and a swimming pool.

City leadership places a high value on education. The Killeen Independent School District provides comprehensive educational opportunities from elementary through high school, focusing on preparing students for a successful future, whether in higher education, the workforce, or military service. The town boasts a modern public library that serves as a resource and gathering place for community engagement.

Shopping and dining in Harker Heights primarily consists of local shops and family-owned restaurants. The Black Bear Diner and Acropolis are two local favorites. If none of the in-town options catch your eye, you’ll find plenty of other establishments in neighboring communities.

The city’s dedication to community safety, development, and the well-being of its residents is evident in its comprehensive services and responsive local government. Harker Heights maintains a small-town feel while providing the amenities and opportunities of a larger city, making it an attractive place to live, work, and play.

With its scenic views, central location, and welcoming community, Harker Heights embodies the best of Central Texas living.
